Component Mission

The Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) Deputy Director of National Intelligence for Intelligence Integration (DDNI/II) serves as the Director of National Intelligence's (DNI) senior leader for intelligence integration across the IC enterprise. DDNI/II is responsible for ensuring customer outcomes by leading advances in collection and analysis that ensure the quality, timeliness, and utility of insights for the nation's decision-makers. Additionally, DDNI/II is responsible for increasing expertise and improving tradecraft at all levels through specialization, integration, and collaboration. DDNI/II is responsible for the strategic vision, direction, and planning to deliver a more integrated IC reflecting the collective wisdom of our collection and analytic components to advance, in support of the National Intelligence Managers, the Unifying Intelligence Strategies (UIS).

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

- Lead and conduct an analytic production program on long-range developments and trends in geopolitical dynamics and multilateral affairs.
- Serve as the Strategic Futures Group (SFG) point of contact and expert resource for functional counterparts in the IC on international affairs, geopolitics and multilateral issues. In doing so, lead, initiate, cultivate, and maintain productive working relationships with the policy, defense, and intelligence communities, as well as policy committees as appropriate, to support US strategy and policy development.
- Facilitate and manage meetings among IC analysts to establish IC analytic and collection priorities related to the portfolio. Coordinate on portfolio-relevant intelligence products for senior policy makers.
- Engage with senior U.S. Government policymakers, National Security Council, State Department, Department of Defense (DoD), and Combatant Command strategic planners on issues within the portfolio. Brief senior IC members, policymakers, military decision makers, members of Congress, and other major stakeholders as necessary on issues related to the analytic portfolio. Support the DNI representative to Deputies Committee (DC) and Principals Committee (PC) meetings on issues related to the analytic portfolio.
- Apprentice for preparation to manage significant portions, if not the entirety, of the NIC's highly acclaimed analytic simulation program, which oversees simulations done at the request of other parts of the NIC, CIA, NSC, DOD, and State.
- Develop, lead, and oversee IC sessions, conferences, and other domestic and international forums to elicit insight from experts in support of NIC assessments on economics, development, demography and mobility issues. Represent the NIC at local and international meetings, conferences, and other forums in support of the IC's analytic production.
- Foster and strengthen relationships among analysts from across the IC and with academia, think tanks, the business community, and other nongovernment subject matter experts to ensure that the IC has a comprehensive understanding of emerging transnational and transfunctional issues of strategic importance. Organize analytic exchanges and other forums to draw on expertise from outside the government to support IC analysis and written production.
- Investigate and implement innovative tradecraft, methods, and tools to improve strategic foresight.
- As required, provide process or substantive support to NIEs, DC/PC briefing packages, and PDB coordination.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

L E A D I N G I N T E L L I G E N C E I N T E G R A T I O N

- Contribute to discussions in the SFG centered on other strategic (global, transnational, and/or long-range) issues of importance to senior US policymakers, defense planners and/or warfighters.
- Recognize, value, build, and leverage diverse collaborative networks with the ODNI and across the IC.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

- Superior critical thinking and reasoning skills including the ability to quickly draft high-quality, complex, and well-written assessments, and briefings for IC consumers and policymakers at the highest levels of the US Government.
- Expert knowledge in national security at the global and regional level, regarding geopolitical dynamics, multilateral institutions, and the role of non-state actors in international affairs.
- Proven track-record of high-impact analytic production on these topics.
- Demonstrated ability to conceptualize analytic topics and, with limited supervision, lead analytic teams with multidisciplinary expertise. Superior interpersonal, collaborative, and networking skills, including the ability to interact with, solicit opinions from, and understand internal and IC counterparts and key consumers; the flexibility to remain open-minded and modify opinions on the basis of new information and requirements; and the deftness to work with and fairly represent the IC when analytic views differ among agencies.
- Superior organizational and interpersonal skills, including the ability to effectively represent ODNI in interagency meetings and communicate effectively with people at all levels of leadership and knowledge as to the impact of issues on US interests.
- Creative problem-solving skills and superior ability to provide leadership in carrying out mission responsibilities..
- Experience in managing contracts or large programs desired but not necessary.

Desired Requirements
